Tutor of the Month:

I am currently a Senior at Cal State University, San Bernardino and I been working at Leading Edge Learning Center for almost 2 years. As a tutor and ESL instructor in the center I have learned to understand that everyone learns differently. I have also been able to pass down some of my knowledge just like someone once did with me when I was my student's age. I am able to understand many of my student's struggles in learning because I know what it feels like to be lost, that's why I tend to motivate them just like my tutors once did with me in order to succeed. Everything is possible if we just work hard and stay focus on our goal to succeed. This is why I enjoy teaching my students day by day.
